Here's a bit of Insider news for you: everybody loves ice cream.

And for that matter, everybody knows that Babcock Hall makes the best. That's why Bucky, who's always looking to spread the love, took a job dipping out cones for the crowds at the Union this summer. But we warn you to be patient with him. He's got hairy hands, and so every time he scoops, he leaves a bit of fuzz in each flavor. And, being silent, he can't exactly explain what Blue Moon tastes like. But the big guy deserves a waffle-cone-sized break — it's hard to look at all that ice cream every day and know that you're just giving it to other people.
